| 1 | The offender received an incident report, dated July 8, 2011, while at Toler House, as he was in violation of Code 309: failing to secure employment within 15 calendar days of arrival and failing to provide his employment information. Shortly after his arrival at Toler House, the offender stated he did not plan to work while at the facility. When it was explained to him that employment is a requirement of all able residents at Toler, the offender stated his employment was lined up for after his release, and therefore, did not feel it necessary to obtain employment while there. |

The undersigned was contacted by Toler staff and I advised that I did not have any issues with the offender returning to work for his father; the offender was informed of this and was told to provide the employment office with the contact information for his father's company. He was given numerous opportunities to provide the information, and failed to do so.

After the incident report was delivered, on July 8, 2011, the undersigned met with the offender and the employment specialists at Toler House on July 11, 2011. When the undersigned questioned the offender as to why he failed to provide the employment information of his father's company, he stated he was "lazy." The undersigned instructed the offender to contact his father at this time via his cell phone, and instead, he called his father's office, and obtained the information needed for the Toler staff.
